Quality Quality

"You can't talk quality as if your life depended upon it," said a man recently. What else has killed criticism, what else has met competition. Quality is the thing that makes machines as it makes men, makes them fit for the work they are cut out to do. Gives them staying power—gives them dependability—gives them value. This is you get by dealing with:

BASSANO TRADING CO.

With the intention of taking up mining territory extensively, J. J. Verlin, of Pittsburg, Pennsylvania, this week purchased section 12, half of 13, in 20-20, and three quarters of section 14, in 18-20, about nine miles south of Bassano, from ex-Councillor Fred Hawkins for an average of sixteen dollars an acre.

Mr. Hawkins only purchased this land about a year ago, and made about $10,000 on the whole deal.

Mr. Verlin intends going into mining, and he is now, realizing the market there, and that the district around Bassano is admirably adapted for this class of farming.

SUBSTANTIAL GROWTH DURING YEAR.

Two Has Made Wonderful Strides During Past Twelve Months.

A glance at the town generally, reveals the solid and substantial nature of the growth of Bassano. Where one brief year ago there were nothing but wooden shacks, there now stands rows of fine brick blocks.

Three new brick blocks can be counted on the south side of Second Avenue that were not there twelve months ago.

The Hunter Hotel, the brick block of J. H. Stiles, and the brick block of Geo. F. Watson are adding tone to that side of the street. On the north side W. J. Robinson's large new store is one of the best equipped in Alberta.

On First Avenue the new Berkley Hotel on eight rooms, being erected in the vicinity of $100,000 practically completed, and garbed in a beautifully suited grey brick with California decorations is a "thing of joy and beauty" for ever.

In addition, houses have sprung up about the place, and at least fifty have been pushed to completion within the last few months.

SLOUGH OF DISEASE IS DRIED UP.

Following the plan in that country, Engineer Russell, acting under instructions of the Council, ordered equipment, pumped the water and piped it to a low spot east of the elevator this week.

The task took only a few days, and now the town is relieved temporarily at least of what has been condemned by the Medical Health officer as a menace to the health of the community.

SPORT FANS SHOULD SEE THIS

Another sporting event is promised: the one of Bassano, another boxing exhibition being scheduled for Saturday, June 23rd, the day preceding the great Bayley-Allen event, between Ole Bull and T. H. Clapper, both of Bassano. The nature of Ole Bull's tone was discovered when he boxed Kid McClary at the Berkley Park grounds here a few weeks ago.

The kid set up against him for about three seconds and then went down to the disappointment as much of Ole as the crowd. Ole has the goods alright. There was nothing about about that exhibition.

Now comes along Tommy Clapper. Tommy has done some boxing down in his native State of Pennsylvania, and knows some points about it you would not expect when he is serving you so nicely and extremely over the counter of the Bassano Liquor Store. He was discovered when he was doing some amateur sparring, and Ole was impressed with him.

"Sure he'd make a good match with me," he said, and it was then and there arranged.

From the look of it, it is not going to be any nickel game but a good round bout, that will go for so many rounds it would make the moving picture man think. Watch out for the date, June 23rd.

McCORKINDALE MET INSTANT DEATH
When Tumbling Rod on Tractor Engine Brake Loose

John McCorkindale a member of the firm of McCorkindale Bros, who have a large ditch company around Lethbridge, was instantly killed by a tumbling rod that broke loose on a traction engine he was riding Wednesday.

The rod worked loose when the engine ran hot, then it took away part of McCorkindale's head, and crashed through an eight inch steel plate.

Death was instantaneous. Mr. McCorkindale had been in the vicinity of Bassano about two years and was very well liked. His mother lived with him and his brother at this camp. No inquest will be held.

CONSTABLE DAVIES SHOT BY INDIAN

Joe and Jim Ham and a Squaw Under Arrest at Bassano Barracks—Constable Davies was Chasing Them When Shot

His home unobscured. Robbing the unconscious man of his chaps they captured him, and then having the unfortunate constable bleed him still alive, to his lonely and awful fate, they rode off in the direction of the Indian reserve.

One of them it is said mounted the horse and slung the chaps over his shoulder while the other hung into the rig with the weapon.

Not content with their ghastly night's work they commenced to raise a riot primarily in the camp of Chief Tuckin, bragging what they had done and threatened to shoot up every Mount policeman who came into sight.

Desiring peace Chief Tuckin watched his chance and kept the most obstreperous Jim Ham, dispatching a scout to Bassano for police aid.

At three o'clock in the morning the Indian reached town, reported the matter to assistant Police Constable Richardson who accompanied Chief of Police Clyne, and together the ventured out, through the dense darkness. The word they had from the Indian was that Jim Ham and company were shooting things up generally, and they were unaware at that time that the ringleader had been repaid, and all the more credit attached to actions on that account, stealing carefully and quietly up to the camp they found the Indian already repaid. The others were pointed out to them and they took the three into custody, and lodged them in the barracks at Bassano.

Meanwhile the plight of the unfortunate Davies was discovered. The section men at Lethbridge noted the Indians tearing past, and their suspicions were particularly aroused by the fact that one of them rode a police horse with which they were familiar.

They went back along the trail for blood and a mile and discovered Davies. Blood had flowed freely from the wound, he seemed then to be already dead. Flipping the

ASSOCIATION FOOTBALL.

BASSANO VS. THE DAM.

A well-contested match between the above teams took place on Saturday, June 1st, on the latter ground. The kick-off was at 2 p.m. and the game was evenly contested for the first quarter of an hour, when Bassano scored a rather lucky goal after some good combination between the centre-forward and inside left.

The Dam then pressed and threatened the Bassano goal, but owing to the steady play of Bassano's centre half and left back, were unable to score.

Shortly before half time Bassano scored once more for Bassano from a foul kick near the Dam goal.

The second half proved even more exciting play, but the defence on both sides proved too strong and no further goals were scored. The final result being two goals to one in favor of Bassano.

For Bassano Parnell, Lennie and White were the most conspicuous while for the Dam Wright, Dack and Cameron played well.

After the game the visiting team were hospitably entertained and presented with a challenge cup donated by the Dam team in recognition of their victory.

A return match will be played next Saturday at Bassano, when the cup will be contested for once more.

The following are the names of the two teams.

THE MOST INTERESTING TRAIN THAT EVER CAME TO TOWN

GURNEY FOUNDRY COMPANY

TO COME VISITING WEST IN SPECIAL TRAIN

Don't Miss this Train!

THE GURNEY FOUNDRY CO., in connection with some other Canadian manufacturers, are coming to visit you in a special train, which will pull into your station in the next few days. We want every citizen in this locality to visit us. The Gurney Foundry Company are especially anxious to have every housewife visit their exhibit, as the matter of cooking and heating comes under the direct control of the women. They know what it means in satisfaction, economy and comfort to have a stove that bakes and broils with the minimum of attention and the maximum of results, a furnace that gives the proper degree of heat. GURNEY Stoves, Ranges and Heaters have an enviable reputation in the great Canadian West. The purpose of this train is not only to demonstrate the good points of the Gurney-Oxford to those who have had no previous experience with them, but is also meant as a genuine and sincere act of appreciation to the thousands of users of Gurney goods in the Canadian West. It is as near as we can come to making our customers and prospective customers a personal visit. Our exhibit is in charge of our branch managers, who will show you every courtesy and be glad to give you thorough and exhaustive information on the important points of cooking and heating.

The Gurney-Oxford Economizer

Every housewife should know the Gurney-Oxford Economizer—what it will do and what it means in comfort and economy. The Economizer is licensed for use only on Gurney-Oxford Ranges and Heaters. By means of a simple device you regulate absolutely the fire, moving the lever up for more heat, down for less heat. There are no drafts to open and shut. The Regulator maintains absolutely any desired degree of heat and with a saving of one-fifth of the fuel—nothing goes up the chimney but smoke and odor, the gases are fed to the fire and the heat to the oven. Every housewife should visit our exhibit and see the Economizer work.

The Gurney-Oxford Oven

No other oven has the baking capabilities of the Gurney-Oxford. This efficiency is secured by a special construction of flues which distributes heat evenly on all sides of the oven. There are no cold corners in the Gurney-Oxford oven. The front is as warm as the back and good results in cooking are absolutely assured. Visit the train and let us show you this important feature.

The Gurney-Oxford Grate

The construction and design of the grates of the Gurney-Oxford is the third outstanding feature which makes this exhibit so well worth seeing. The duplex grates are the result of prolonged experiments with Western fuel, and are only fitted in our stoves for Western use. The proper fire surface for right combustion and draft is obtained only in the Gurney-Oxford grate, one half turn and the ashes are cleared; the sharp edges will grind the toughest clinker. We will be glad to demonstrate this important feature of the Gurney-Oxford on the train.

THE PRINCE OF WALES PAID PRINCES

Manitoba Takes the Lead During the Past Year in Securing New Settlers, but Many go to Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia.

Ottawa—That the efforts of the Manitoba government and the "Miles-Long" League to secure the settlement of the province is proving highly successful already, is shown by official reports of the department of the interior.

There were ten thousand more immigrants settled in Manitoba during the last fiscal year than the year previous, and the rates of the first month of the present year shows that all prospects for Manitoba will be passed this year.

Most of the new settlers are wealthy farmers who are purchasing improved properties. The official statistics of 1913-14 show that 42,477 new settlers came to their destination in Manitoba, as compared with 34,063 the previous year.

Saskatchewan obtained 45,148, an increase of 40,000; British Columbia 41,932, a slight decline.

Ontario is given the credit for obtaining the most share of the immigrants in the total being 100,227. However the rate of immigration into the west is increasing, and the fact that many of the immigrants are coming from Ontario shows for the prairie provinces.

Quebec's share was 50,002, and the maritime provinces 10,000. Altogether 243,217 new settlers, more than a third were from United Kingdom.

Mr. Allison, of the Winnipeg Telegram, was in town this week for the purpose of writing up an article on the Dues and Bassano. Mr. Allison, who has been examining the irrigation and study-made farm systems expressed himself as impressed by their thoroughness and ingenuity. He was very much satisfied at the remarkable growth of Bassano during the year as evidenced in the large number of substantial buildings that have been erected.

The Bassano boosters locked horns
with Red Deer at the end of last week, drawing even on the four games, losing Thursday night, winning Friday night, winning Saturday afternoon and losing Sunday evening. They went up to Edmonton Monday losing heavily, drew Tuesday and won Wednesday by ten-four. They remain in Edmonton all the week, and return to Bassano Monday when they will meet the Calgary Branch.
